

April Luncheon—The Ministry at O’Hare Field

The Chicago Torske Klub is pleased to present our speaker for the April Luncheon, Rev. Michael Zaniolo, STL, Administrator and Catholic Chaplain for the Chicago O’Hare and Midway Airports in Chicago. Father Mike has been at his post for years, and has graciously agreed to speak to us about the ministry and “community” at the airports.

Fr. Mike speaks with Pope Benedict XVI

The O’Hare Airport Interfaith Chapel is in the mezzanine of Terminal 2 of O’Hare Airport, which serves that community, some of that is obviously very transient with special needs. The Chapel at Midway Airport opened in April 2002 serving that southwest metro airport community.

Our Torskemaster for this day is our own Board Member Fred Glure. We’ll leave it to Fred to explain how we met Father Mike and asked him to speak at our meeting.

March Meal enjoyed by Fathers, Sons & Daughters

Our March meal was shared by dozens of guests last month as our fathers, sons and daughters enjoyed our torsk luncheon and speaker, Melissa Hulting of the Environmental Protection Agency. Melissa spoke of climate change, and shared some images of Norway which she took on a training excursion there. The luncheon was attended by 80 people this month.

Thanks also to our Programs Chairman Ray Newgard who acted in the role of torskemaster. Finally, thanks to all of you that brought your guests this month. It was a good day.

Preparing for Travel to Norway

The travel to Norway is coming up shortly in July for those that signed up and for many others that travel there repeatedly. It occurs to us that a list of commonly used phrases for travel in Norway is both useful and prudent. Enclosed is a few that we have collected from the Monty Python manual of conversational translations:

- I wish to purchase a ticket. - Min klokke er full av ål
- Your cooking is very good - Mitt vaskerom vil bli opptatt i dag
- Do you have a pencil? - Har du rakitt?
- My hotel room is chilly.—Ville du kommer til rommet mitt og holde meg varm?
- It is hot outside—Jeg vil fjerne klærne mine nå.
- I do not speak Norwegian—Jeg er ikke så intelligent som nordmenn
- I am taking the fast boat to Bergen - Jeg tror jeg kan svømme til Bergen
- Is this the direction to go? —Trek meg i fingeren?

You may receive an odd stare at first, but it is likely your dialect. Repeat the phrase slower and clearer if you receive odd stares and be sure to have a Happy April Fools' day.

By the way, there is a good written translator software at <http://translate.google.com/> . No joke.

Thanks to Carl Eglund for all the smiles he gives us.
