

Celebrate the Rails at the April Luncheon

The 2nd Saturday of April comes late in the month this year, and that means a long stretch of 5 weeks between meals. We'll reconvene in April for this first luncheon of Spring with our own long-time board member Fred Glure presenting on the subject of Trains. Fred is a past chairman of the 20th Century Railroad Club, served as an on-board tour guide for Amtrak, and has been an avid fan of the rails for years.

Fred is a retiree of the Chicago Public Schools, most recently having served as the Head of the Guidance Department at Lane Tech College Prep High School.

Join us with Fred Glure and our good member Fred Olk as torskemas-ter this month. Fred Olk is also a board member of the 20th Century Railroad Club. The reservation line is open now for 24 hours, 7 days a week. Note starting this month that we need reservations by Monday evening, not Tuesday as in previous times.

March F/S/D Luncheon

We enjoyed the presentation of Mr. Bob Levi (apologies for the misspelling in the last letter) concerning the use of opera in the pop culture. This was F/S/D day, a.k.a. father/son/daughter day at the Chicago Torske Klub, enjoyed by scores of members and guests. Thanks to Rich Wielock, who performed the duties as torskemas-ter admirably.

Stave Churches

One of the fascinating aspects of Norway are the collections of ancient churches that are scattered across the country. They are a reminder of the basis and transformation of the Christian faith of our ancestors. The origin of these buildings trace to the Viking age, even though many are still in use a millennium later. The structures combines those Viking elements & those of the early catholic church of Norway. It binds them with the transformation of the protestant reformation.

Lomen Stavkyrkje in Veste Slidre Norway dates from 1192

They are called stave churches (stavkyrkje in Norse) because of the timber posts in the central support of the building. This was covered with planks. The Lomen building has Norse gods carved at the top of the posts as their punishment to support the ceiling for eternity because of their role as false gods.

These ancient churches have survived 1000 years, but are more at risk today than ever. Although their value as cultural icons have granted them status as worthy to preserve, threads of vandalism and fire still loom to destroy them.

I wrote a more extended article about the Lomen church for the Valdres Budstikken a few years ago. Feel free to download a copy from our website at <http://www.torskeklub.com/Letters/2011Season/LomenStaveKyrke.pdf>

The Gol Stave Church (from Buskerud) was saved and moved to the Norwegian Museum of Cultural History near Oslo.

Lomen Church Interior [to left]- The original nave had parishioners standing in the dark on a dirt floor. The windows lit the chancel room by the altar only, symbolically separating man from the light of God. Pews and a wooden floor were added after the Reformation. One of the four "stave" posts supporting the structure can be seen behind the pulpit.
